Williamstown, Mass. – The Williams College Museum of Art (WCMA) presents 11 Reasons to Become an Investment Banker, an exhibition by Williams College senior art majors, on view from May 10—June 2, 2013. The show features the work of eleven studio art students: Deena Bak, Jocelyn Fifield, Heath Goldman, Nicoletti Gupit, Fenn Hoffman, Tracy Hu, Emma Laukitis, NanNan Li, Muzhou Lu, Stephanie Owyang, and Emmanuel Whyte. The senior studio exhibition celebrates the culmination of each artist's senior project and will open with a free, public reception on Friday, May 10 at the museum, beginning at 7:00 p.m. All are invited to attend.

The work draws inspiration from diverse sources, exploring such far ranging issues as: black male identity, dreamscapes, marginalized urban dwellers, astrophysics, personal spirituality, order and chaos, experiences, suspension of disbelief, nature, carnival atmospheres, and storytelling. The Class of 2013 has worked in a wide array of media including: oil paint, acrylic paint, oil charcoal, pastel, sculpture, multi-media installation, and photography.

Williams College Museum of Art

One of the finest college art museums in the nation, WCMA houses over 13,000 works that span the history of art. The museum encourages multidisciplinary learning through encounters with works of art that traverse time periods and cultures. The Williams College Museum of Art is located on Main Street in Williamstown, Massachusetts. It is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 am to 5 pm and Sunday from 1 to 5 pm. The museum is wheelchair accessible and open to the public. Admission is FREE. For more information, contact the museum at (413) 597-2429 or visit wcma.williams.edu.
